The Contractor shall be solely and entirely responsible for his/her acts and the acts of his/her employees, agents, servants, and subcontractors during the term and performance of this Agreement. No employee, agent, servant, or subcontractor of the Contractor shall be deemed to be an employee, agent, or servant of the County because of the performance of any services or work under this Agreement. 10.1. For Cause: If, through any cause, the Contractor fails to fulfill its obligations under this Agreement in a timely and proper manner, or if the Contractor violates any of the covenants, conditions, or stipulations of this Agreement, the County shall thereupon have the right to immediately terminate this Agreement, upon giving written notice to the Contractor of such termination and specifying the effective date thereof.

10.2. For Convenience: The County may terminate this Agreement at any time by giving written notice as specified herein to the other party, which notice shall be given at least thirty (30) days prior to the effective date of the termination. If this Agreement is terminated by the County, the Contractor will be paid an amount that bears the same ratio to the total compensation as the services actually performed bear to the total services the Contractor was to perform under this Agreement, less payments previously made to the Contractor under this Agreement.

Staff providing Family Team Meeting Facilitation will have at minimum a Bachelor's level education with two years experience working with children and families.

- a) What service delivery methods and mechanisms would you implement? Include specific methods and techniques you will use for engaging and motivating clients and families.
Referrals will be reviewed and approved for service within 24 business hours. Once approved for services, cases will be assigned and attempts to contact the families and/or clients will be made within one business day to set up the initial appointment for services. The staff assigned to a case will use all available resources to establish contact with a family; including, mail, email, and phone contact. Once contact is established, Shiloh House staff will offer an assessment and explanation of services to the family, offer in home meetings if appropriate for the service, collaborate with the family to schedule appointments that work within the family's schedule, and offer a variety of community based resources to help meet the needs of the family on an ongoing basis. Services are family centered and individualized to assist families in accessing resources that will help them achieve their goals.

- b) What evidenced-based approaches or promising practices does your agency employ? (Please indicate if you have any specific certifications to accompany these.)

Therapy is solution focused, and may take many forms including; EMDR, Dialectical Behavioral Therapy, play therapy, Animal Assisted Therapy, and SOMB therapy (provided by Master's level SOMB treatment providers). Individual therapy identifies measurable goals and outcomes that are consistent with the Human Services Family Service Plan.

2. Please explain how your agency's services will address the five Core Services goals of:

- a) Focus on the family strengths by directing intensive services that support and strengthen the family and protect the child:

Face to face interaction is a key element of identifying strengths. Through the process of building rapport and helping the family-voice their goals, Shiloh House can tailor services to identify deficits and build or strengthen skills with family centered, respectful, culturally competent, trauma informed, strength based care for every member of the family participating in services.

- b) Prevent out-of-home placement:

The Shiloh House philosophy of care includes a collaborative, cooperative approach which enables coordination of services for child welfare-involved children, youth, and families. Shiloh House is committed to ensuring that all children and families receive services based on a thorough assessment, and that individualized treatment is family centered. B.A. and Masters level staff work with the family to eliminate child protection issues in the home, and increase the level of family functioning. Services may include intensive in-home services, out-patient therapy services for families and individuals, Life-Skills, behavior coaching, and community based educational support for students struggling with truancy and credit recovery.

- c) Return children in placement to their own home:

It is the philosophy of Shiloh Home to design our programs, train our staff, and provide services to our children and families in a manner which achieves and maintains permanency through providing support, skill building and therapeutic services which are family centered, respectful, culturally competent, trauma informed and strength based. Shiloh House shares the Department of Health and Human Services goal to return children home "as soon as is safely possible".

- d) Unite children with their permanent families:

Child welfare agencies employ numerous strategies to achieve permanency for children. Permanency planning involves decisive, time-limited, goal-oriented activities to maintain children within their families of origin or place them with other permanent families. Permanency plans include the child's goal for permanency, the tasks required to achieve the goal, and the roles and responsibilities of all involved.

- e) Provide services that protect the child:

Ensuring safety for the children we serve is a top priority and cornerstone of our Shiloh House philosophy. This includes prevention of physical child abuse and neglect, risk assessment of the child and his family, family preservation, identifying and addressing substance abuse issues in the family, facilitating supervised family visitation and family reunification, and identifying and intervening in potential domestic violence.

3. Do you have experience working in the Child Welfare System, particularly with traumatized children and families? Please describe your agency's approach to trauma informed care within your practice.
For over 30 years, Shiloh House has worked to meet the needs of Colorado youth and families. Masters level clinicians at Shiloh Home, Inc. provide intensive therapeutic services individually with clients as well as family and group services, case management, outpatient, transition and crisis intervention services. BA level counselors provide direct care to youth in Shiloh Home's therapeutic programs. They are responsible for daily documentation, behavior management, teaching social and life skills to clients, and integrating goals identified in the client's treatment plans in day to day tasks so that clients can successfully reintegrate into the community. Shiloh House uses a trauma informed approach to identify the underlying causes of behavior and help youth and families move from trauma based responses to crisis situations to effective behavior in meeting life's challenges.
4. Describe how you will be multi-culturally responsive and how you plan to provide services that meet the social, cultural and language needs of clients involved in the Child Welfare System.
Cultural education is part of each client's overall treatment plan. Increased exposure to new cultures or elements that are integral to the structure of various cultures helps build new awareness about the intrinsic value within each individual. Field trips, groups, and recreational activities all play a role in enhancing a client's cultural awareness. Shiloh House strives to employ staff from diverse backgrounds, and when needed for family therapy, an interpreter will be utilized. Clients must be able to communicate in English to participate in some Shiloh programs.

C. Collaboration

Providing services for Child Welfare clients involves the ability to advocate and collaborate on behalf of the clients you serve and yourself. This includes collaboration with ACHSD, community-based organizations and other government entities.

1. How do you plan to coordinate services and reporting with Child Welfare Social Case Workers?
Shiloh House has a philosophy of care that includes a collaborative, cooperative approach which enables coordination of services for child welfare- involved children, youth, and families. Clinicians provide monthly reports to each MDT by the 15th of each month subsequent to service provision. In addition, regular updates are provided to Caseworkers on an as needed basis to keep the Caseworker apprised of any relevant changes. Shiloh House uses face to face contact, email, and phone contact to build and maintain rapport with the Child Welfare Social Caseworker.
2. Will you provide other supportive services through collaborative agreements with other programs/providers? If so, define these services:
Providing individualized services to meet the needs of clients does at times require collaboration with other providers. Shiloh House ensures that clients receive regular psychiatric care and medical care (including Shiloh House uses community based programs like Community Reach Center to ensure youth receive psychiatric services and will have a long term community based option for ongoing medication management or therapy after being discharged from Shiloh House services. In addition, Shiloh House works with the MDT for each client to identify other services that may be beneficial. Shiloh House partners with The Link and SB-94 to assist in short term placements for youth who will remain in the community, but must be out of the home for a brief period.

3. It is likely that you or your staff will be expected to testify on the witness stand during Court Hearings. Briefly describe your (their) experience and the qualifications that would qualify you as experts in child welfare or other fields.

Depending on their role, staff may hold a BA or a Masters degree in a Human Services related field. Staff are knowledgeable in working with youth who have experienced trauma, mental health issues, and behavioral issues. Staff are experienced in providing interventions that reduce the impact of trauma and strengthen the ability of youth to interact with others successfully. Staff receive training on documentation of progress toward treatment goals and learn tools to identify and manage risk. Staff are trained in Informed Supervision, Trauma Informed Care, working with high-risk youth, Mandated Reporting requirements, professional boundaries, confidentiality requirements, rational detachment, the needs of families in crisis, Shiloh Home, Inc. Policies and Procedures, and State regulations related to their roles at Shiloh House.

D. Report and Accounting Systems

1. ACHSD requires monthly reports with specific information. Briefly describe your methodology and ability to track data and provide these reports on client progress.

For services outlined in this application, a summary of each session is documented on a Progress Note (case management note) at the time of service. Progress Notes are used to generate the monthly report which outlines the progress toward goals along with other reporting items. Monthly reports are provided to the MDT by the 15th day of the subsequent month. Staff receive training on the expectations related to documentation including when and how information may be shared, the types of information that must be documented, and how documentation is stored. Shiloh House stores information digitally in a Client Records Tracking System (CRTS). This program offers the ability to query data for outcomes, patterns of behavior, and goal measurement. Information from data tracking and outcomes is shared only after procuring an appropriate release of information.
