3. In the specific service area, provide a detailed narrative on how this service will address the five Core Services goals of:

a) Focus on the family strengths by directing intensive services that support and strengthen the family and protect the child:

Savio believes every family has strengths and that those strengths should be acknowledged and utilized to address the concerns that brought the family into the child welfare system. From the point of intake strengths are identified through informal and formal avenues including meeting with the family, collaborating with the DHS case worker, interviewing community and relative support systems, and assessments designed to identify strengths (North Carolina Family Assessment Scale – Reunification – Child Protection and Life Skills families only). Once identified, the strengths are used as the foundation for addressing the child welfare concerns which brought the family to the attention of DHS. Families respond more positively to services when their strengths are acknowledged and often are more likely to successfully engage in services and have successful, sustainable outcomes. This approach helps to insure the family is seen holistically and not just as their presenting problem.

b) Prevent out-of-home placement:

Preventing out-of-home placement and preserving families are the primary outcome measures tracked by Savio. Savio staff, along with the family and DHS caseworker, identify specific concerns that put the child(ren) at risk of out-of-home placement. Services are designed to target those concerns and develop skills to keep children and youth safe and at home. Savio Services can also be accessed to successfully stabilize kinship and long-term foster placements at risk of disruption. Savio works with the substitute care provider to resolve issues and preserve the placement, preventing the child or youth from needing a higher level of care.

c) Return children in placement to their own home:

Savio services have a long history of successfully reunifying children and youth from out-of-home care back to their family of origin. Services start prior to or at the point of reunification and are designed to help the child or youth and family have a successful and smooth transition home. When appropriate, Savio staff engage the substitute care provider to aid in this transition. Intensity of service will be determined jointly with the DHS caseworker and will be based on family need. Transitions plans are established and form the basis for service delivery.

d) Unite children with their permanent families:

When children or youth are unable to safely reunify with their family of origin, Savio works with the DHS caseworker and other professionals to help identify an appropriate permanent home. Options may include permanent allocation of parental responsibility to relatives or kin, adoption or independent living.

e) Provide services that protect the child:

Safety of children and youth is a primary goal of Savio Services. Staff are trained in identifying safety concerns and developing and monitoring safety plans. Savio staff participate in Team Decision Making (TDM) Meetings when safety is discussed and plans are developed. Savio's Director of Child Protection Services is on contract with the Colorado Department of Human Services Child Protection Consultants as an expert in the Colorado Assessment Continuum and has been an active member of the State workgroup re-designing the new risk and safety tools.

Management of risk factors for young children is essential to protecting children. Savio has expertise in risk identification and management. The Child Protection Division utilizes the Risk Assessment and Re-Assessment to identify specific risk factors and help the family develop concrete plans for managing those risks in the future. By paying specific attention to risk management, recidivism is greatly reduced.

In addition to formalized safety and risk management through the use of the Colorado Assessment Continuum, Savio utilizes the Signs of Safety approach with families. Signs of Safety is a solution-focused brief therapy approach that builds partnerships with parents when there is suspected or substantiated child abuse and neglect. This strengths-based, family-centered style enlists parents as partners, and the focus is on developing protective capacities through identifying what is or needs to be occurring in the family system to create safety for children. Savio purchased the training curriculum from Signs of Safety; all staff are formally trained in the model.

When working with adolescents, safety is achieved through teaching parent's skills and developing a solid supervision plan as well as affecting changes in the youth's behavior. The goal is not only safety of the youth, but also to build safe communities. Criminogenic factors are targeted as well as decreasing association with negative peers.

4. Do you have experience working in the Child Welfare System, particularly with traumatized children and families? Please describe your agency's approach to trauma informed care within your practice.

Savio's 47 year history of serving Child Welfare families throughout Colorado gives the agency a solid understanding of the needs of this special population. Savio works closely with child welfare staff to insure the treatment goals are coordinated and services are targeting the specific child welfare concerns. Savio is following the National Child Traumatic Stress Network's (NCTSN) Guidelines for creating a trauma informed child welfare system. Clinicians provide trauma-informed care to all families by being aware of the connection between this trauma history and current behavior. Staff assess for trauma and work to provide and/or connect the family to the necessary treatment. Savio also provides home-based and office-based Trauma Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (TF CBT) for children age 3 – 17 years and their caretakers.

5. Describe how you will be multi-culturally responsive and how you plan to provide services that meet the social, cultural and language needs of clients involved in the Child Welfare System.

Savio currently employs staff who are trained and able to meet the referral numbers proposed in this RFA response. Savio will ensure all staff meet DHS's minimum education and training requirements; the majority has a Master's Degree in Human Services, Psychology, Social Work or related field; some are Bachelor's level with prior experience. Supervisors are Master's level with a minimum of one year experience as a worker. Savio provides specialized training regarding working with child welfare families. Staff complete a minimum of 20 hours of continuing education annually. Savio offers its employees the E-Learning training program comprising hundreds of hours of state-of-the-art training modules developed to meet standards in the human services field. All employees receive weekly supervision. Savio is proud to have a base of long-term employees which adds to the organizational knowledge and expertise available to newer staff.

Knowing that each family and community is different, Savio is sensitive to cultural and ethnic identity. Each of Savio's evidence based programs have been studied and are equally effective across diverse cultures. Bi-annual client satisfaction survey responses also used to gauge program aptitude in this area. Hiring and training practices value and promote diversity and cultural competency in staff. Staff are trained regularly on cultural and ethnic awareness including the values and traditions of different cultures. All staff are evaluated during annual performance reviews regarding their ability to work effectively with diverse clients, and multi-cultural communication and language skills are recognized and rewarded.

Savio maintains Spanish speaking capacity in all of its program areas. The Child Protection programs also currently have capability to serve hearing-impaired families who communicate using American Sign Language.

C. Collaboration

Providing services for Child Welfare clients involves the ability to advocate and collaborate on behalf of the clients you serve and yourself. This includes collaboration with ACHSD, community-based organizations and other government entities.

1. How do you plan to coordinate services and reporting with Child Welfare Social Case Workers?

One of Savio's underlying principles of service delivery is collaboration among multiple systems in an effort to support successful outcomes for families and children. Savio's program includes the development of a team with representatives from both Savio and Human Services who jointly manage services for clients (Quality Assurance). Within Savio, the service approach is called "joint service management", a formal model in which staff are trained to align themselves with public agencies in order to provide individualized, seamless services to clients that meet expectations. This involves treatment planning, weekly communication and reporting, goals tracking, and outcome reporting. Savio fosters its working relationships to maintain mutual trust and respect, keeping both agencies joint owners of case outcomes.

2. Will you provide other supportive services through collaborative agreements with other programs/providers? If so, define these services:

Savio has extensive experience working with numerous collateral agencies including schools, mental health services, community health agencies, foster care providers and youth corrections facilities. Staff are able to collaborate with these and other systems to ensure the needs of clients are met through the community. Savio is known not only as a service provider, but as a partner in the communities it serves. These strong alliances create a comprehensive network of resources for families to utilize as aftercare supports. The goal of all Savio services is to provide time-limited, assessment driven, targeted services to families, then transition that care to lower level community supports for long term sustainability.

- 3. It is likely that you or your staff will be expected to testify on the witness stand during Court Hearings. Briefly describe your (their) experience and the qualifications that would qualify you as experts in child welfare or other fields.

Savio staff are trained in courtroom testimony, and are specifically trained not to present testimony outside of their knowledge of a specific case. Savio administrators have extensive experience in providing court testimony, and provide training in this area to staff. Staff are accompanied to most court hearings with a supervisor.

D. Report and Accounting Systems

- 1. ACHSD requires monthly reports with specific information. Briefly describe your methodology and ability to track data and provide these reports on client progress.

Savio maintains high specific standards for case notes and recordkeeping in all program areas. Each Savio staff member must note all work in time logs (documentation of time spent with families), DAP case notes, and other systems as required by licensing agencies. Each case must have written case plan, monthly reports and a discharge summary used for reporting to the referral agency.

Census and outcome information is kept up-to-date in Savio's Client Tracking database. Other program-wide information can be compiled as requested to meet the Department's needs. Data are presented and evaluated at each quarterly Quality Assurance meeting. This provides an opportunity for administrators and supervisors from both Savio and DHS to evaluate the program and make any necessary changes to improve outcomes.

- 2. Describe the accounting system you utilize to provide fiduciary accountability.

Savio utilizes the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles for fund accounting. Utilizing a thorough and verifiable system of internal controls, accounting data is gathered and recorded throughout each month. Monthly financial statements for the operating fund are prepared and presented to the Board of Trustees at regular monthly meetings. Financial statements for the plant fund and the endowment fund are presented to the Board quarterly. The financial statements for all funds as well as the consolidated entity are audited annually by an independent auditor. Savio's operations follow the Audit and Accounting Guide for Health Care organizations published by the AICPA. Savio's physical accounting system consists of Great Plains software integrated with the proprietary Savio Client Tracking system.
